Informed Consent to Chiropractic and Acupuncture Treatment

The nature of chiropractic treatment: The doctor will use his/her hands or a mechanical device in order to move your joints. You may feel a “click” or “pop”, and you may feel movement of the joint. Various ancillary procedures, such as hot or cold packs, electric muscle stimulation, therapeutic ultrasound or dry hydrotherapy may also be used.

The nature of acupuncture treatment: The doctor may also use acupuncture as an adjunct, or in whole, during your care. Acupuncture involves the insertion of tiny needles into the body through the skin. It may also involve the use of pressure, electrical stimulation.

Possible Risks: As with any health care procedure, complications are possible following a chiropractic manipulation. Complications could include fractures of bone, muscular strain, ligamentous sprain, dislocations of joints, or injury to intervertebral discs, nerves or spinal cord. Cerebrovascular injury or stroke could occur upon severe injury to arteries of the neck. A minority of patients may notice stiffness or soreness after the first few days of treatment. The ancillary procedures could produce skin irritation, burns or minor complications. Acupuncture is a safe and effective method of treatment. However, it can occasionally cause slight bleeding that usually resolves with pressing dry cotton on the spot where the skin is bleeding. It is also normal for the patient to have a temporary sore, pressure, numb, burning or tingling sensation at the acupuncture site and even radiating to certain regions of the body. There have been rare instances reported of fainting, infections and scarring. There have been extremely rare instances reported of spontaneous miscarriage and pneumothorax. Chinese herbs that have been recommended are traditionally considered safe in the practice of traditional Chinese medicine. Some herbs may be inappropriate during pregnancy. If any gastrointestinal upset or allergic reactions are experienced with the herbs, discontinue immediately and consult your doctor.

Probability of risks occurring: The risks of complications due to chiropractic treatment have been described as “rare”, about as often as complications are seen from the taking of a single aspirin tablet. The risk of cerebrovascular injury or stroke, has been estimated at one in one million to one in twenty million, and can be even further reduced by screening procedures. The probability of adverse reaction due to ancillary procedures is also considered “rare”. The probability of adverse reaction due to acupuncture and Chinese herbs are also considered “rare”. They would be significantly less than the chance of adverse complication due to prescription medication use, medication injection or surgery.

Other treatment options which could be considered may include the following:

- Over-the-counter analgesics. The risks of these medications include irritation to stomach, liver and kidneys, and other side effects in a significant number of cases.
- Medical care, typically anti-inflammatory drugs, tranquilizers, and analgesics. Risks of these drugs include a multitude of undesirable side effects and patient dependence in a significant number of cases.
- Hospitalization in conjunction with medical care adds risk of exposure to virulent communicable disease in a significant number of cases.
- Surgery in conjunction with medical care adds the risks of adverse reaction to anesthesia, as well as an extended convalescent period in a significant number of cases.

Risks of remaining untreated: Delay of treatment allows formation of adhesions, scar tissue and other degenerative changes. These changes can further reduce skeletal mobility, and induce chronic pain cycles. It is quite probable that delay of treatment will complicate the condition and make future rehabilitation more difficult.

Unusual risks: I have had any unusual risks of my case explained to me. I have read the explanation above of chiropractic and acupuncture treatments. I have had the opportunity to have any questions answered to my satisfaction. I have fully evaluated the risks and benefits of undergoing treatments and understand that no guarantees of outcome have been made. I have freely decided to undergo the recommended treatments and hereby give my full consent to treatments.
